This book series simplifies the sentences in Adam Smith's The Wealth of Nations to make it more concise and readable. It optimizes Smith's content by organizing each idea into bullet points with sub-ideas as sub-bullets, all under topic headings, without removing factual information.

Book 3 introduces the concept of sustainable natural economic development which begins with agriculture, followed by manufacturing, and lastly, foreign commerce. It also explains how the feudal system arose and how it was gradually eliminated, something that can be very useful to modern societies which still have strong feudal influences.
