- Preparation. Use distinctive evaluations of pencils, basically HB, B, 2B, and 3B for recognizing contours and shading impacts. Nonetheless, on the off chance that you plan to utilize colors, extensive pencil stroke may not be justified. Depend upon the fluctuating tones of colors to highlight the edges and draw out the bearing of light.
- Skeletal drawings. It is difficult to utilize any accuracy drawing instruments for setting the fundamental system for trees and plants, with the exception of any vase, flower pot and so forth that may be a piece of your configuration. Draw the baselines and frameworks first with a free hand. There may be bends, lines, edges, circles, and other principal shapes. For trees, start with trunks and continue to draw branches. For little plants with expansive leaves, draw the midrib of every leaf as the pattern. For brambles, you can begin from any end - a few people favor the top to begin with, while others take it upwards starting from the earliest stage.
- Structural drawing. When you have put the establishment set up, start with the points of interest. Drawing out the structure of the sharp edges or make a free appearance of an accumulation of leaves relies on the separation of the figure and the time. Remember that in closer perspectives; regularly the foundations of the trees are additionally unmistakable over the ground. For little plants, draw longitudinal or well proportioned cutting edges, as the case may be, on both sides of the midrib. For shrubs, it is generally a light-gave, arbitrary structure.
- Color and pencil shading. Shading is a vital component, whether done by pencil or by colors. While making a painting, artists regularly apply paint straightforwardly on the drawing base, where noticeable brushstrokes in the evaluated tones of colors, give the fancied impact of takes off.
